Who I Am

Who I Am

I don’t know myself at all because I don’t know what I want.Is it you? Is it him? That phrase changes everything. Another day laying on the bed and have nothing to do.The time is flying because I think about these lines that I’ve written for you.I feel bad, I feel sad without any intention – but I’m losing myself in. How can I miss our love when we hadn’t any.... But I swear I felt the connection.I don’t know myself at all because I don’t know what I want. Is it you? Is it him? That phrase changes everything. Hear that noise in my ears – They start to bleed. Make up your mind or die without trying. Our society, never problem-free. I have to know who I am to get accepted by them. But even if I know where my path will go - life won’t change,without you it stays the same.I don’t know myself at all because I don’t know what I want. Is it you? Is it him? That phrase changes everything. Feel so much pain in my mind.The brightness let my eyes go blind. There is just one thing I know – That the hell I don’t know... . “Yeah”- I don’t know myself at all. I don’t know myself at all. The only way to discover myself, what I want, who I am, it’s you. You feel like air. So please - give me the chance to breathe.
